New York State Teacher of the Year

Christopher W. Albrecht
Brockport Teachers’ Association

Christopher Albrecht, a fourth-grade teacher at the Fred W. Hill School in Brockport, is the 2018 New York State Teacher of the Year.

Albrecht, a Brockport Teachers’ Association member, has mentored numerous student teachers and several first-year teachers, eager to spread his passion for the profession.

Last spring, SUNY Brockport honored Albrecht for his work supporting teacher candidates in the college’s Childhood Inclusive Education program. He was later invited to be the keynote speaker at the college’s Student Teaching Conference Day.

In his more than 20 years at Brockport, Albrecht has served on English language arts curriculum development committees, and founded the Hill School Spelling Bee and the Hill School Yearbook Committee, which he still advises. Albrecht also coached high school baseball and soccer.

In 2015, Albrecht began an after-school running program for fourth- and fifth-grade students with a focus on building self-confidence among all students, including those with special needs. This team has grown from five to 19 students with all completing three months of training and a 5K road race in downtown Rochester.

As Teacher of the Year, Albrecht will serve as an ambassador for teachers throughout the state and will be the New York State nominee for the National Teacher of the Year.
Millie Glaberman

United Federation of Teachers, Retired Teachers Chapter

As a young teacher, Millie Glaberman walked the picket line in the 1960 strike that led to the creation of the United Federation of Teachers. In the nearly 60 years since, her commitment to the union hasn’t wavered. As an in-service member, she was a liaison to the Central Labor Council, received five proclamations from Manhattan borough presidents for her activism and, in 1978, served as the Manhattan political action coordinator, a position that taught her the value of phone banking. She is the current UFT/RTC political action coordinator, guiding the group's efforts from topic research, to script writing, to contacting phone bank volunteers. Last year, her group made 22,000 calls, helping the union soundly defeat the proposed New York State Constitutional Convention.

“Millie shows what one person can achieve when passion and professionalism combine,” said NYSUT President Andy Pallotta.

Mel A. Stern

RC 20

Mel Stern is a tireless union advocate, leader and activist. President of Retiree Council 20 and co-president of the Half Hollow Hills Retiree Chapter, Stern was an enthusiastic backer of Christine Pellegrino, a former educator who achieved a David-and-Goliath-sized win last year in a race for the New York State Assembly. As a NYSUT Political Action Committee member, Stern split his time between hitting the campaign trail on Pellegrino’s behalf and working relentlessly to defeat the constitutional convention; in the four months preceding the vote, Stern held weekly retiree phone banks. As an in-service member, Stern served as a NYSUT Election District director and as president of the Half Hollow Hills Teachers Association.

“More than 83 percent of New Yorkers voted ‘no’ on the constitutional convention last year, and we couldn’t have done it without the help of retirees like Mel Stern,” said NYSUT President Andy Pallotta.
Cynthia Eaton

Faculty Association Suffolk County Community College

Cynthia Eaton, an English professor at Suffolk Community College, has made her mark on two NYSUT higher ed locals. Before becoming an activist with the Faculty Association of Suffolk Community College, where she currently serves as secretary, Eaton was an officer of the Mohawk Valley Community College Professional Association, where she was an award-winning newsletter editor and began making a reputation as an expert in online learning.

Eaton has a particular interest in MOOCs (Massive Online Open Courses) and has lectured about the possible impact of MOOCs on workers’ rights and intellectual property rights. For several years, she was a monthly columnist for the AFT’s “On Campus” magazine, where she wrote extensively about best practices in distance education.

Among her many community activities, Eaton organized the first Breast Cancer Awareness Walk at Suffolk’s Eastern Campus, an event that raised more than $7,000 for charity.

Bethany Gizzi

Faculty Association of Monroe Community College

Bethany Gizzi is a sociology professor at Monroe County Community College and president of the Faculty Association of Monroe Community College, where she is a noted leader in the fight for respect and fairness for her members.

Gizzi has served as lead negotiator for her local’s last three contract cycles and as co-chair of her college’s Committee on Labor-Management Cooperation.

Gizzi is an active member of NYSUT’s Women’s Committee; a fierce advocate for additional funding for community colleges; an outspoken voice supporting the power of collective bargaining; and an advocate for adjuncts and their issues.

In 2016, Gizzi was invited to the White House to attend President Obama’s Free College Initiative panel discussion. She teaches a number of popular sociology courses, including environmental sociology, and has been co-chair of her academic department. She is also a respected and active member of the American Sociological Association.

She was elected Manhattan Paraprofessional Borough coordinator in 2014 and is a member of NYSUT’s SRP Advisory Board.

“School-Related Professionals are the unsung heroes of our schools and campuses. By honoring Margaret, we honor all of our members who do the important work of providing support in an academic setting,” said NYSUT Second Vice President Paul Pecorale, whose office oversees SRP issues.

Stephen Rechner
Union of Clerical, Administrative and Technical Staff at NYU

Stephen Rechner has been fighting for the rights of working people for almost 30 years. President of the Union of Clerical, Administrative and Technical Staff at New York University, Rechner has been lead negotiator for several of his local’s contracts and, in the early 1990s, led the fight for domestic partner benefits for all NYU employees. He also edits UCATS’ award-winning newsletter.

A resident of New York City, Rechner is a 1993 graduate of NYU Stern School of Business. He works full-time as an administrative aide in the Lawyering Program at NYU School of Law, a job he has held since 1986.

In 2005, Rechner was elected to the NYSUT Board of Directors as an at-large director.

“The work that Stephen has done as an educator and as a unionist has improved the lives of his colleagues and his students,” said NYSUT Second Vice President Paul Pecorale. “He is very deserving of this award.”
Alicia Schwartz
United Federation of Teachers/Federation of Nurses

New York City may be 1,600 miles from Puerto Rico, but when the island was ravaged by a hurricane last fall, UFT Federation of Nurses member Alicia Schwartz responded immediately.

Within a day, Schwartz joined her union’s disaster relief team and was leading rescuers throughout Puerto Rico, providing compassion and support to those left homeless and suffering.

“Alicia is an inspiration, and we’re privileged to call her one of our own,” said NYSUT President Andy Pallotta. “She represents the very best of NYSUT.”

While in Puerto Rico, Schwartz cared for residents suffering from dehydration, hunger, gangrene and cancer.

“As her work in Puerto Rico underscores, there’s no limit to the lengths Alicia will go to care for others,” said NYSUT Vice President Paul Pecorale. “She’s a testament to the professionalism NYSUT members display on a daily basis across our state.”

Lori Griffin
Copenhagen Teachers Association

Lori Griffin is an English teacher with the Copenhagen Central School District and longtime leader and activist with the Copenhagen Teachers Association.

Griffin is a graduate of NYSUT’s Leadership Institute and member of her local’s Local Action Project team as well as the union’s political action committee. She was a founding member of a regional PAC of NYSUT locals.

A one-time radio personality with several Watertown stations, Griffin has spearheaded a grassroots campaign to address the teacher shortage in the North Country. The campaign has been used by NYSUT as a template for other locals to follow.

Griffin is the proud product of the State University of New York, with degrees from Oswego and Potsdam.

Anne Goldman

United Federation of Teachers

Anne Goldman was among the first to seek collective bargaining rights for nurses in New York City, having successfully bargained on behalf of nurses in the UFT’s Federation of Nurses against major corporate entities running hospitals and home care services. She has advocated politically with NYSUT to help push for the passage of state laws, including the end of mandatory overtime for hospital nurses and the safe patient handling bill. She is chair of the NYSUT Health Care Professionals Council.

A nurse herself, Goldman is a member of the NYSUT and UFT Board of Directors and of the American Federation of Teachers Program and Policy Council. She played an instrumental role in the inclusion of an additional 35,000 registered nurses to her national union. She is on national and statewide committees dealing with nurse recruitment and retention, staffing issues and specialty training.

Since 2013, Goldman has served as the UFT vice president for non-Department of Education members, working with private-sector members in negotiations, labor relations and legislative activities. She has also testified on behalf of family child care providers to increase the state minimum wage and provide training, inspections and background checks.

Nadia Resnikoff

Middle Country Teachers Association

Nadia Resnikoff has served as union president of the Middle Country Teachers Association since 2001, and is involved in union leadership on the local, statewide and national levels. As a teacher and education advocate, Resnikoff has served on the State Education Department’s Commissioner Advisory Committee.

Resnikoff has served in her Long Island school district as mentor/intern program coordinator, guiding new teachers through requirements, curriculum, regulations, evaluations and more. She has met as an advisor with hundreds of teachers to help them grow as effective teachers.

She has served on NYSUT’s Civil and Human Rights and Fair Trade committees. She’s walked in the Women’s Marches in Washington, D.C., and New York City the past two years and traveled to Ciudad Juarez with the Labor-Religion Coalition of New York State Border Witness program to learn about the effects of NAFTA on people, the economy and working conditions.

Resnikoff is a past member of the NYSUT Board of Directors and a graduate of the Leadership Institute. She is also a delegate to the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers, where she served on the AFT Program and Policy Council and Learning First Alliance Council.
