

Questions to ponder...

How does a school create a welcoming and supporting school? What is the role of the educators and the students?

What is the role of a teacher/administrator/paraprofessional who learns that a student has endured a traumatic, violent journey and is in the country undocumented?

What is the role of a teacher/administrator/paraprofessional of a girl who is carrying heavy responsibilities at home and may be forced to marry at a young age?

What is the role of a teacher/administrator/paraprofessional of a student whose gender identity causes a rift with her family?

What classroom supports and resources do these students need in order to be successful in school? What is the role of a teacher/administrator/paraprofessional in making that happen?
